THE JAS LOCAL EDUCATION

INITIATIVE complements existing public school music programs and replaces programs where schools suffer losses due to budget cuts. Programs of the Local Education Initiative are invaluable to students & teachers in the Roaring Fork Valley (and I-70 corridor), allowing students ages 7-18 to pursue jazz & general music at a much higher level and commitment than would be offered to them by the schools alone.

JAS-IN-SCHOOLS FACULTY ASSISTANCE program provides in school Music Directors with assistance using valley wide professional instructors.

JAS-IN-SCHOOLS SUMMER CAMPS consist of three two-week sessions taught by members of JAS/ Faculty Band. Each camp includes performance opportunities, and college students from CU, DU & UNC teach the first session, providing mentorship and instruction to advanced HS & MS jazz students.

PAYS TO PLAY The Jazz Aspen Snowmass Pays to Play Private Lesson fund was established to provide initiative for Roaring Fork Valley youth (ages 7 – 18) to take private lessons in any instrumental discipline. JAS will pay for the first three lessons (@ $50/per hour) to support & promote furthering music education, simultaneously supporting the economy of local musicians.

STUFF FOR STUDENTS supports schools through instrument and equipment donations. School music teachers assess the classroom needs not met with school budget and a yearly request is made for desired equipment and instruments.

TICKETS FOR TEACHERS JAS donates hundreds of tickets for festivals and other JAS performances to teachers and students within the Roaring Fork Valley.

The nation's only full-scholarship residency for gifted young student artists from around the world, the JAS Academy Band Sessions enable talented young jazz artists to experience ten days of master classes, seminars, and performances led by well-known jazz masters.
